Before you start

An unofficial fan-made manual

This booklet is not a LEGO product. It was generated from the model file by a computer program and checked part by part.

The model was designed by zeldar (https://brickit.app/ideas/2d4e49a5-3670-42b3-a2d3-39c16475d11a). These steps follow the designer's own instructions, redrawn here.

Not physically build-tested

The model and these steps were checked on a computer only: every part/colour is a real LEGO element, all 92 connections between parts were matched in 3D, no two parts overlap, every part can be pushed into place in its step, and the model's balance was estimated. Not tested: how firmly parts hold, part tolerances and how it copes with handling. Take your time and support the model while you work.

The finished model

About 6.0 × 3.8 cm and 5.6 cm tall, about 28 g (estimated).

Start with the blue shorts and build the legs down from them, then the chest up from the waist: two inverted slopes make it wider than the hips. Each arm turns on a stud in a technic brick's hole. The head hangs in front of the chest on a half pin and a bracket, the face built upside down under it, and the brow sits half a stud forward: a 1 x 2 plate or tile goes on a hollow stud by the tube in the middle of its underside.

You will need

- The 58 pieces in 4 colours listed at the back, with their LEGO element IDs and BrickLink numbers.
- A brick separator for pieces that sit too deep for a finger.

Tips

- Sort the pieces by colour before you start.
- Build the sections in order: each sub-assembly is finished before it is used.
- New pieces in a step have a yellow outline; earlier pieces are drawn paler.
- The arms turn on one stud each: let them hang a little back from straight down, as in the pictures.
- The brow plates and the brow tiles go on centred on one stud each: press the tube under the middle of the plate or tile into the hollow stud.
- The head is heavy and out in front: The Thing stands, but tips forward easily. Stand him on a flat table.

The 4 colours

- Orange: 51
- Blue: 3
- Black: 3
- Light Bluish Gray: 1

How to read the steps

Parts and step number

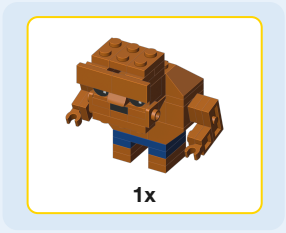

The parts for the step and how many of each, then the step number. The parts of a step are drawn at one scale, so a longer one looks longer; a tile or a long plate also has its size in studs under it.

New parts

The parts added in a step have a yellow outline and are drawn in full colour; the parts from earlier steps are drawn paler.

Sub-assemblies

A yellow-framed picture means: put in the sub-assembly you built in its own section. "Build 4x" means you need four of them.

Sections

Each section starts with its name at the top of the page. Sections are built in the order they appear.

Insert direction

Some parts slide in sideways (axles through bearings, gears onto axles). The picture shows where they end up; push them in along their axle.

Not yet built with real bricks

These checks catch most mistakes a designer can make, but not all: clutch power, part tolerances, how stiff a long axle is and how the model survives handling can only be judged with real bricks. If you build it, we would love to hear how it went.
